A wedding in the Florida Keys. Could it get any better? The natural beauty. The friendly people. And an incredibly unique place to enjoy your honeymoon.

But don't let our easy-going nature fool you. If there's one thing we're very serious about it's making your wedding perfect. The location. The catering. The invitations. We'll help you handle it all. Or point you toward some outstanding wedding planners to handle it for you.

Look, weddings are special. So are the Florida Keys. Put them together, and you'll have memories you'll treasure forever. For more information log on to fla-keys.com, then go to the specific district you want, and find the "weddings" category.

What you should know about weddings in the Keys.

- You'll need a photo ID to get a marriage license
- If you're from out of state, you'll need a Florida marriage license that may be obtained from any county in Florida
- Both parties must be 18 years of age or older
- The date of a divorce or death (if applicable) is necessary
- No blood test is required
- There is no waiting period for non-residents of the State of Florida
- If one of the parties is a resident of the State of Florida, a three day waiting period applies
- Couples may be married in the Clerk of Court's office. A notary public or an ordained minister can also perform the ceremony
- If either party is not a U.S. citizen, alien registration documentation or other proof which contains an alien registration number is acceptable

For more information, contact the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Monroe County Office at 305-294-4641.
